

Hollow Earth

Much has been said lately about the Hollow Earth. Much has been written, many videos have been made... many people are for it and many against it. What I wish to share with you today relates to the perception of reality throughout the accumulated history of humankind.

I want to talk to you about the reality of the microcosm and the macrocosm: as above, so below, and as below, so above.

Today, science –mathematics, atomic and quantum physics, astronomy– knows very well that creation is FRACTAL. Scientifically speaking, this means that when we look at any given point of creation, this point is in the image of all Creation. It is the grain of sand of the ancient Greek philosophers, who saw the universe reflected in the image of that grain. Knowing the grain, one knows the Universe. If we take a small, miniscule triangle, and use many of these tiny triangles to form a larger triangle, this great triangle will be composed of itself. All Creation is FRACTAL!

100 years ago, scientists believed that the atom was solid. Then came one scientist a bit more awakened, named Rutherford. This man stated that the atom is mostly empty - a nucleus, then much space, until the outer layer comprised of electrons. Do you know what happened? No one believed him! His model, called the Solar System Atom, was rejected because the scientific community preferred J. J. Thomson's model called "the Plum Pudding!" (how not to laugh). It was only years later that another scientist, Niels Bohr, saved the theory of the Solar System Atom. Today, who would question that the atom that is mainly composed of vacuum, with a nucleus and an outer layer formed by electrons.

And when we look at a living cell, in biology, what do we see? The same. A core, then a lot of space, or intracellular fluid, and an outer layer called the cell membrane.

And in astrophysics, who could believe that between the sun that shines on us and the planets, space is solid? We know that the solar system is in fact mostly empty!

Therefore, as above, so below, and as within, so without. The same with our planet and all the planets of the Universe. It's logical... but belonging to a superior logic. I don't care what anyone says. It is not a question to be argued. It is obvious, that's all. Remember that the Earth is a living organism, not a dead one... just as a cell, an atom, the solar system or the Universe is a living organism.

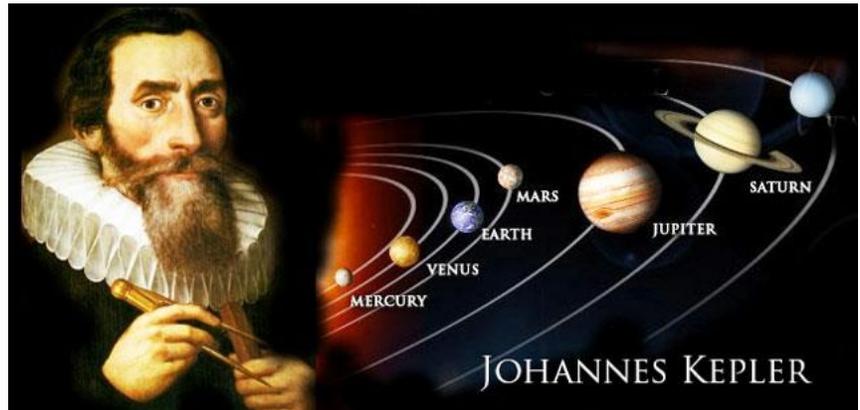

That being said, if our Earth is really hollow, that would imply that there is a conspiracy, a terrible world conspiracy of the authorities to hide reality. Well, speaking of conspiracy, to my knowledge, the first person in modern history to speak publicly of conspiracy was the American president J. F. Kennedy, in the famous speech that was, they say, the cause of his murder (speech given on April 27, 1961 on the radio: “For we are opposed around the world, by a monolithic and ruthless CONSPIRACY, that relies primarily on covert means for expanding its sphere of influence --on infiltration instead of invasion, on subversion instead of elections, on intimidation instead of free choice, on guerrillas by night instead of armies by day. It is a system which has conscripted vast human and material resources into the building of a tightly knit, highly efficient machine that combines military, diplomatic, intelligence, economic, scientific and political operations.”). It is said that Kennedy and Lincoln were the two greatest presidents in the history of the United States... This is not just anyone talking about conspiracy!

Then look at the names of those who were in favor of the Hollow Earth in history. You will find geniuses! Such as Kepler the great astrophysicist, or Halley (who gave his name to the comet). Or in occultism, H. P. Blavatsky. In religion, the Lamas of Tibet... with the ancient tradition of Agharta or Agharti (here is the description by Ossendowski). Not to mention Jules Verne with his book Journey to the Center of the Earth. He was never mistaken. None of his visions were proven wrong, none! And why so much effort of the Third Reich, the Nazis, to reach Antarctica, etc., etc.

The ancients were not as stupid as people want to depict them today... for obscure reasons. A few years ago, scientists claimed that they had discovered how planets are formed: the comet! They discovered that comets are made of frozen water and dirt. For the ancients, such an announcement would have been almost ridiculous, too obvious. To prove it, here is an excerpt from a book by the alchemist Cyliani, written in 1831. The book is called Hermes Unveiled, and leads us to believe that this knowledge came from the ancient Egyptians. I read it when I was young, before the alleged discovery by modern science (see here).

There is plenty of evidence... here is a link if you want to read more about the Hollow Earth, and a documentary made some time ago. For example maybe you know that no airliner can pass near the poles, because the instruments go crazy! (Neither do satellites in fact). This is what Admiral Byrd experienced when he went there. There are many things... A while ago, I downloaded from a NASA webpage a 3-D map of the Earth; the program is called World Wind (<http://worldwind.arc.nasa.gov/features.html>). Well believe it or not, there in the Antarctic, there is a white circle added, as if to hide something! Here is the photo that I took that day.

For me there is no doubt... they are hiding something. In fact anyone who has read all the information on the subject, and still does not believe in the Hollow Earth, it is because they don't like divine things, they don't like to wonder about amazing things in life, they prefer to believe that man comes from apes and that we are the most advanced civilizations in the history of the planet. This argument about the Hollow Earth, it is rather a struggle between materialism and spirituality, it is not a struggle to see whether the earth is hollow or not. Hollow? ... It has to be! Such is life and the whole cosmos!

I leave you with an excerpt from the book The New Chemical Light, written in 1604 by Sendivogius, a famous alchemist (we have it in our Online Library).

“In the centre of the earth, then, there is a central sun, of which the heat pervades the whole earth to its surface by reason of the movement thereof, or by the motion of the firmament thereof. This heat changes the water of the earth into air (or vapour), which being much more subtle than water, is violently driven upward through the pores of the earth. But when it reaches the colder atmosphere it is once more condensed into water... By this action of the central sun the elements are distributed over the earth and each finds the place where in can grow...

As the central sun has its sea and crude perceptible water, so the celestial sun has its sea of subtle and imperceptible water (the atmosphere). On the surface of the earth the two kinds of rays meet and produce flowers and all things.”

Jean-Marie Claudius

For VenerabilisOpus.org

Mandelbrot Fractal

